KUDOS

The annual dinner of the SRC Guild, which now numbers more than 1000 members, was held in the State Dining Room of Ochre Court. SRC President, Sister Mary Christopher, was the main speaker. The Guild presented her a check for $5,000 for the College. To date, approximately $200,000 have been donated by the Guild, whose membership, characterized by self-sacrifice and dedication, are committed to the best interests of the College community. Plans and programs for the Guild Year 1970-71 were also discussed at the dinner meeting. Moderator for the Guild these many years has been Sister Mary Martina, professor of history.

HERE

A welcome to the SRC community is heartily extended to the following new members of the administrative staff and faculty: Hugh Boyle, assistant professor of education and psychology, and psychology consultant for Hope Center; Rev. Charles Breault, assistant professor of philosophy; Miss Barbara Cahalan, business manager; Miss Barbara Connolly, admissions counselor; Sr. Marie Therese Courtney, exchange professor of English; Mr. James E. Cunningham, director of buildings and grounds; Mrs. Margaret Duffy, instructor in nursing; Mr. Gerald Fetter;

Hersh, instructor in philosophy; Mr. Jerome R. Kutliroff, instructor in physics and biology; Miss Florence Lahey, instructor in nursing; Miss Maria Leandro, instructor in nursing; Sr. Mary M. Lomax, instructor in creative arts; Mr. Chester G. Lupton, instructor in psychology; Mrs. Gertrude MacPhail, instructor in biology; Mrs. Mary Martin, assistant in nursing; Sr. Joan McInnis, instructor in education and mathematics; Dr. Mario Nicotra, consultant in clinical psychiatry for Hope Center; Sr. Mary Giles Peresich, assistant professor of bibliography and assistant librarian; Miss Nancy Rozendal, instructor in nursing; Miss Marilyn Sullivan, professor of nursing and program coordinator of the counseling center; Mrs. Joellen Watson, instructor in nursing; and Mrs. Miriam E. Wood, instructor in nursing.

Mr. Warren Harrington, librarian, and president of the faculty senate, has announced the names of three newly-elected senators. They are: Sister Ann Nelson, assistant professor of history and politics and chairman of the department; Miss Barbara Colavecchio, instructor in English; and Rev. Richard Mandeville, instructor in theology.

The faculty senate and faculty of Salve Regina College hosted the new faculty at a reception in the Alumnae Lounge of Miley Hall on October 28.

The Christian Life Center's FLICKS '70 (Focusing Life in Cinema, Keynotes, and Symposia) opened a five-part series on Dimensions of Man with a keynote, "Man's Vision of Himself" by Rev. Dominic Rover, O.P., executive assistant to the president, Providence College; a film, Hud, starring Paul Newman; and a symposium with Rev. Christopher Johnson, O.P., CLC director, speaking on "The Alienated Hero," and Miss Barbara Colavecchio, instructor in English, on "The Changing Concept of Hero." A subsequent FLICKS '70 bonus brought Father Rover back to campus to lead a discussion on "Two Faces of Woman" as reflected by the international award-winning films, A Taste of Honey and The Pumpkin Eater.

Joseph Heller, the author of Catch-22, the hilarious bestselling anti-war novel, presented dramatic readings from his works, and discussed urgent issues of the times, for the first lecture in a series sponsored by the Student Congress of SRC. Some 500 people attended this opening lecture.

There are still opportunities for interested students to join the Just Us production company of "The Hobbit." Rehearsals are well underway for the J.R.R. Tolkien tale, which will be staged here on campus later this fall under the auspices of the Creative Arts Center.

The Boathouse, SRC's campus coffee house, has been providing weekend entertainment on a regular basis, with both on and off-campus talent. For additional information regarding up-coming events, contact Cynthia Field '71 at Ext. 65.

A dance workshop is currently being offered on a non-credit basis to any interested students on Monday evenings from 7-9:45 in the creative arts gallery. The workshop, sponsored by the creative arts department, is headed by Mrs. Joya Hoyt, instructor, who comes to SRC with an extensive background in dance. Mr. Glenn Giuttari, instructor in creative arts, and director of the glee club, is moderator.

About 60 members of the R.I. Social Studies Association gathered for a dinner meeting in the State Dining Room, Ochre Court, and heard an address by Mr. Edward Wilcox, deputy commissioner of education for research and planning. His topic was "Regionalization." SRC President, Sister Mary Christopher, welcomed the Association to campus. Mr. Robert J. McKenna, assistant professor of political science, and a member of the Association's executive board, served on the planning committee... Mr. McKenna also recently addressed a luncheon meeting of the Newport Rotarians on "The Question of Reform in Legislation on Abortion," and spoke on R.I. politics as a resource person before the Wednesday morning group at Elmhurst Academy, Portsmouth, R.I.

A Region One meeting of the American Society of Medical Technologists was held on campus, with representatives from all six New England states and New York in attendance. Sister Ralph Mary, coordinator of the SRC medical technology program, served as the group's liaison officer.

Dr. E. William Burrell, associate professor of English and education and chairman of the department, has been elected a director of the New England Teacher Preparation Association, representing the colleges and universities in the state with teacher education programs.

Some 75 critic teachers--from all grades and special education--and administrators from schools and school systems throughout R. I. and nearby Mass. now cooperating with teacher preparation programs, were on campus for an annual all-day workshop on supervising student teaching. The workshop, sponsored by Salve Regina College's department of education, featured a videotape demonstration of Sr. Joan McInnis, instructor in education and mathematics. Other participants in group discussion included: Dr. Burrell, who coordinated the workshop; Sr. Mary Corrine Walsh, director of the elementary program; Sr. Helen Boland, chairman of the foreign languages department; Mrs. Ann D. Pelletier, instructor in Spanish; Miss Rae K. O'Neill, assistant professor of education; and Sr. Kathryn M. Murphy, director of special education.

Rev. Richard E. Mandeville, instructor in theology, has been given full membership in the Catholic Theological Society of America.

Last Saturday, the Class of 1973 held their traditional Sophomore Nocturne in the Great Hall of Ochre Court. Music for dancing was furnished by "Playground" (Rustin & Brenner Associates, Inc.). Other activities of the weekend included an informal get-together at the Candy Store, dinner at the Colonial Hilton, and beach and pool parties. Pat Vaccari '73 was chairman of the event.

Navy Chaplain Geoffrey Gaughan and the chaplains in the basic course he directs at the Naval Schools Command, visited the College to tour the campus, confer with students, and meet with faculty members. A morning at SRC has become a regular part of the chaplains' basic course itinerary.

Charles O'Loughlin, dean of continuing education, was recently featured in the Sunday New York Times, in an article describing the various projects and history of the Newport Restoration Foundation. The O'Loughlins have recently moved into a 250-year-old house, the first of the foundation's properties to be restored and rented.

THERE

Alice Maloof '72 and Tina Spero '72, attended the 50th annual meeting of the New England Teacher Preparation Association in Plymouth, Mass., to discuss with other selected students and faculty members certain problems and issues arising in teacher education and in the profession itself. Among the topics discussed were the open concept of curriculum, simulation techniques in teacher education, and the Montessori method of teaching. They will report on the meeting to Salve Regina's Student National Education Association (SNEA) chapter.

Dr. E. William Burrell, chairman of the department of education, was a respondent to an address by Dr. Donald N. Koster of Adelphi University at a Rhode Island Conference of the American Association of University Professors, at Rhode Island College. The address, part of an all-day exploration of "Institutional Neutrality," focused on "A Faculty View." Brown University Vice President Ronald A. Wolk gave "An Administrator's View" at the conference.

Representing SRC at a Drive-In/Fly-In Conference of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education at Rhode Island College, were Dr. Burrell, and Sister Mary Jean Tobin, chairman of the English department.

Some 20 students enrolled in arts curriculum journeyed to New York to attend the Metropolitan Museum of Art College Weekend for Students. This exposition, titled Before Cortes: Sculpture in Middle America, was part of the Museum's centenary observance. While in New York, the students also visited the Whitney Museum, as well as the Guggenheim and the Frick Collections. They were accompanied by Miss Helen R. Holland, instructor in art history.

Mrs. Dorothea P. Dutra, chairman of the department of nursing, attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the New England Council on Higher Education for Nursing, in Wellesley, Massachusetts. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss regionalization in order to meet the educational needs of Registered Nurse students in earning baccalaureate degrees.

Through the cooperation of the State Department of Education, SRC's division of continuing education is offering a credit television series in ecology, over Channel 36. Participants in the fifteen program series include Dr. Charles Warren, University of Rhode Island; Dr. Gamil Zaki, Rhode Island College; and Mr. Lee Gardner, Norman Bird Sanctuary and Salve Regina College.

The annual ceremony for Peace, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy, was recently held at Mt. St. Rita's Convent in Cumberland. A candlelight march, with participants singing religious and patriotic songs, preceded a concelebrated Mass for Peace in the Mt. St. Rita chapel. Also participating in the service were the Sisters in Basic Formation, many of whom are students at SRC, and other interested students and friends.

Ann Chvojka '71 has been named a State Government intern, and is now serving in the office of Attorney General Herbert F. DeSimone.
